Dear Partners in History,

I am pleased to share with you this annual report, which highlights some of the excellent programs, exhibits and events that were part of the last year.

First, I want to thank Jill Lesh, who served as our managing director the last three years. We appreciated her calm, steady, professional hand in helping us reach out to the community and improve our internal operations. We welcome our new director, Diane Ballard, who started April 1. The board thanks the rest of the staff for their continued professional service.

We thank our outgoing board members, Marilyn Skirvin, Tosha Daugherty, Dax Collins, Pat Haley, and Susan Lyons. I completed my third year as president of the board, and the board welcomes Anne Cady as the new president. We all look forward to Diane and Anne's leadership in the coming year.

We continued hosting community groups in the Community Voices Gallery and partnered with other groups for other exhibits. Jamee Wissink, our new assistant Jennifer Mack, and the volunteers continued to prepare exciting, educational exhibits. We also welcome Laura Pinhey as the assistant in the library, and note that Liz Knapp has continued her excellent work as library director. Thanks to Dara May and Martha Wainscott for efficiently running the office and the building this past year.

With gracious help from the Community Foundation of Bloomington and Monroe County and the Smithville Foundation, we continued the work of digitizing the photo collection under Erica Kendall's leadership. You can now access over 7,000 of our photos online.

The Monroe County Community School Corporation received a three year Teaching American History grant, and the History Center is pleased to be working with the teachers to connect local history to larger American history themes. Lisa Simmons continued her work as outreach and education coordinator, working with many school groups and other tours.

The History Center is involved in the grant the Monroe County Public Library received to digitize materials about the stone industry and Bybee Stone Company in particular.

The History Center moved forward in its endowment campaign. The speaker for our third annual gala was Professor James Madison, who told us about his Hoosier heroes and challenged us to think about who our Hoosier heroes are.

The board, staff, and volunteers all invite you to come and see new exhibits, to attend Third Thursday and other programs, and to think about how you are connected to our combined local history. See you at the History Center!

Stats and Figures for 2009-2010

Attendance — 16,166

- We surpassed our goal of 14,765 by 1,401
- Our largest event was the Canopy of Lights Open House where we welcomed 803 visitors

Collections Report

- New items to collection/accessioned—1387
- Previously accessioned (historic backlog) items added to database/digitized—2405
- New grant has allowed the addition of 3 part-time staff persons to digitize the photographs

Educational Programming

- Over 2,000 attended child-focused programming
- Another Hands-on-History program entitled, “Early Indiana Sea,” was created this past year. The program educates youth about the Paleozoic Indiana environment including the foundations of Indiana Limestone.

Volunteer Hours — 10,189

- 661 hours were given by interns
- 2,376 hours in the Library
- The History Center proudly boasts over 100 households of volunteers

Memberships — 552

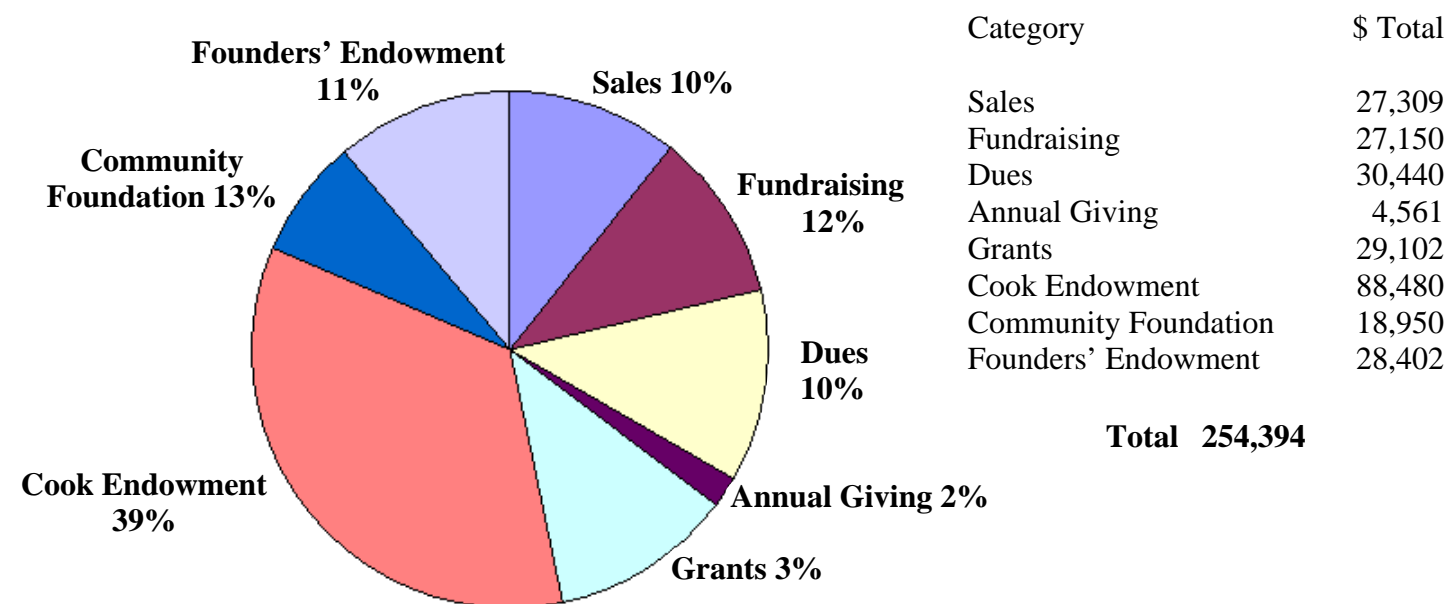

Indiana Bedrock Project

- The Indiana Bedrock project is a photographic collection of Monroe County’s early limestone artists, craftsmen, and workers, placed in a context that is meaningful, memorable, and accessible to all.
- Both the History Center’s Library and Collections were highly involved with the Monroe County Public Library in making the project happen.
- The project has greatly increased our knowledge of the early limestone history of Monroe County in addition to collecting oral histories and numerous photographs.

Library Report

- Several Monroe County government records have been preserved by the Library via digitization or encapsulation including old Deed, Title, and Commissioner’s Records books.
- Work with the Cemetery Committee has increased and in October volunteers better documented the White Oak Cemetery. This led to the updating of the Rose Hill and White Oak Cemetery book.
- Volunteers have been working to organize the Circuit Court records to help make them more accessible for research. The huge project will take years to complete.

Exhibits overseen and curated by volunteer Exhibit Designer Jamee Wissink with Exhibit Assistant Jenny Mack. Additional support/curation provided by Lisa Simmons, Erica Kendall, Ryan Lurie, Rachel Mitchell, Brittany Spencer-King, Diane Matacale, Gena Stanley, and the Indiana University Elizabeth Sage Historic Costume Collection.

NAACP group photo from the 1949 Arbutus originally exhibited in, “Freedom: A History of Us.” The 1949 Arbutus was the first issue where any African-American group was featured in its pages and the NAACP also holds the title as being first non-Greek organization to be featured. Its members were four fifths White and one fifth Black.

Special Thanks to the Ft. Wayne Museum of Art, the Indiana Historical Society, Bloomingsfoods, and all the organization who helped to host exhibits in the Community Voices Gallery.
